PRAXISFORUM GEOTHERMIE.BAYERN 2017

September 11 to 12, 2017

5th Praxisforum Geothermie.Bayern

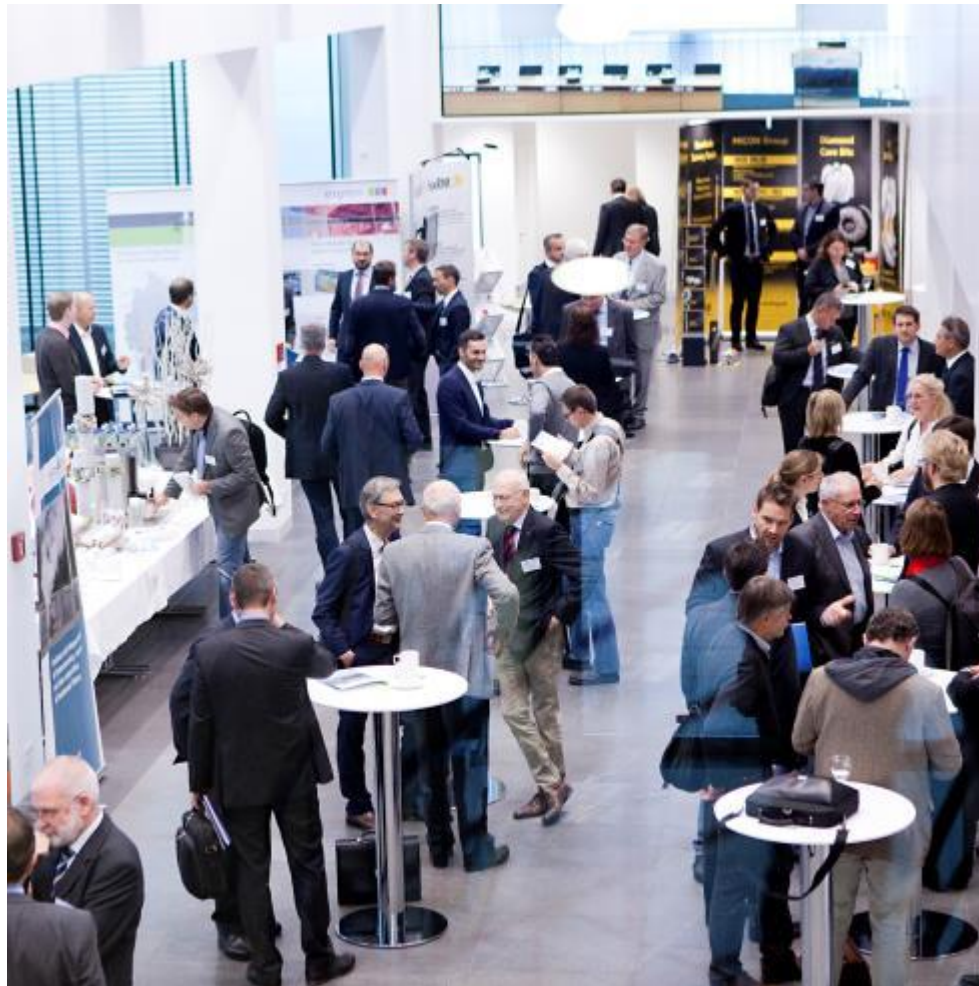

Munich is the center of the German geothermal business. With 15 installed heat plants - some of them are already providing energy since more than 10 years - seven coupled heat and electricity producing plants in operation and three more plants under construction, Bavaria is the leading country worldwide utilising low enthalpy geothermal energy. And up to now the boom is not at its end: further heat and electricity projects are planned.

That is the framework for the Praxisforum Geothermie.Bayern, which gives the geothermal industry in Bavaria a platform for an exchange of experiences about exploration, construction and operation of geothermal energy. Since 2013 Enerchange organises the event including congress and field trip under the patronage of the Bavarian Ministry for Economy.

Programme Overview

The congress offers due to its independent programme design a variety of possibilities to collect and exchange experiences and connect with new partners and potential customers. The basis for the rising interest are the cooperations between Enerchange and different organisations highlighting the significance of the Praxisforum for the geothermal development in Bavaria.
